

THE FOURTH SUNDAY OF LENT

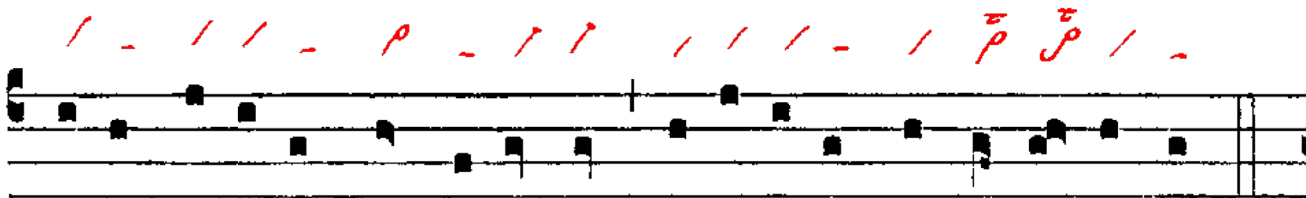

Oportet te fili gaudere,
quia frater tuus mortuus fuerat,
et revixit:
perierat, et inventus est.

*It is right that you rejoice, O son,
because your brother had been dead,
and he has come back to life:
he had been lost, and he has been found*

O

- pór-tet te fi-li gaudé-re,* qui-a frater tu-us mór-
It-is-right that-you O-son rejoice, because brother your tu-us fú-e-rat, et re-ví-xit; per-í-e-rat, et invéntus est.

dead had-been, and he-has-come-back-to-life; he-had-been-lost, and found he is

-Luke 15:32

© Anton Stingl jun.

Engelberg, Stiftsbibliothek, Cod. 121 (1151), Graduale, Notkeri Sequentiae, c.960-970 A.D.
www.e-codices.ch